

Follow us on

Monday, June 10, 2013 | 5:20 a.m.

Sign In | Register

Atlanta 70° Cloudy

8 a.m. 73°

11 a.m. 77°

Alert

Severe Weather »

Stormtracker 2 | Forecast

Updated: 10:54 a.m. Saturday, June 8, 2013 | Posted: 9:53 a.m. Saturday, June 8, 2013

Diverging Diamond Interchange opens in Gwinnett Co.

Related

GWINNETT COUNTY, Ga. — Gwinnett officials have opened the new Diverging Diamond Interchange at the Pleasant Hill Road bridge over Interstate 85.

The DDI at Pleasant Hill Road and I-85 is Gwinnett's first diverging diamond interchange and the second in Georgia. The first was constructed at Ashford-Dunwoody by Perimeter Mall in DeKalb County.

The bridge for Gwinnett's new interchange should be fully open to traffic about noon with the new DDI configuration.

