

Technology company to open research and development center in Gwinnett

Want daily summaries and Breaking News alerts?

From staff reports

Monday, September 15, 2014

© Copyright 2014 Gwinnett Daily Post

An information technology solutions developer for the airline and tourism industries is celebrating the opening of its U.S. research and development center in Gwinnett this week.

TravelSky, which employs more than 4,000 people, develops software applications and services for the management of travel-related information. The company's clients include 30 domestic airlines, nearly 200 regional and overseas airlines, 147 domestic airports and 7,000 ticket agents.

The company is expected to create 30-50 new jobs in Gwinnett County, representing a $10 million investment in the community.

TravelSky will serve North American and international markets from the Duluth facility, which is located at 3700 Crestwood Parkway.