

LOCAL NEWS

5 things to know: Deadly 'kissing bug' found in Georgia

MARTA offering discounted 30-day pass

Gwinnett police investigating shooting at motel

NOKIA

Alcatel-Lucent

Karen Huppertz
For the AJC

Gwinnett Place CID seeks to expand boundaries

COMMENTS

© 2 06 p m Thursday, Nov. 19, 2015 | Filed in: Local News

myAJC

Torpy: Did DeKalb burn ex-FBI mole?

Free access to myAJC for AJC subscribers.

EXPLORE →

The Gwinnett Place Community Improvement District announced Wednesday its 2016 boundary expansion effort is underway. This is GPCID's fourth expansion.

The 2015 expansion added more than $47 million of new property valuation to the GPCID, giving the District additional support and funds to invest back into economic redevelopment improvements projects in the Greater Gwinnett Place area.

The goal of the expansion is to increase the CID's annual revenue, which will fund additional improvement projects, and to encourage more property owner participation in the overall redevelopment efforts of the Greater Gwinnett Place area.

Information: www.gwinnettplacecid.com.

SIGN UP FOR E-NEWSLETTERS

Want more news? Sign up for free newsletters to get more of the AJC delivered to your inbox.

VIEW COMMENTS

Like the AJC to get more stories like this:

Discover your inner elf.

The Broadway Musical

"FUNNY, CHEERFUL & HEARTWARMING!"
—Rama Taylor, NY1 News

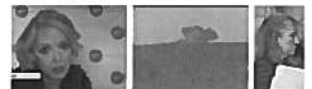

DECEMBER 2-6
FOX THEATRE

GET TICKETS

35th ANNIVERSARY

More videos:

MOST READ